Methodist Church At Beach Filled to Hear Dr. Cooke

Methodist Church at Daytona Beach was filled to capacity last night for the service held in honor of Dr. Cooke, who is visiting the city. The service was held at 8 o'clock and was one of the most interesting and inspiring ever held in the church. Dr. Cooke, who is a member of the church, was the guest speaker and his sermon was a most timely and inspiring one. He spoke of the need for a closer relationship between the church and the community and of the need for a more active participation in the life of the church. His message was well received and the service was a most successful one.

Member Editorial Staff N. Y. Herald Visiting at Beach

A member of the editorial staff of the New York Herald is visiting the city. The member, who is a well-known journalist, is here on a tour of the state. He is expected to spend several days in the city and will be visiting various points of interest. He is also expected to give a series of lectures on the history and development of the state. His visit is being hailed as a most interesting and informative one.

LEADING PARTS ASSIGNED FOR GREATPAGEANT

The great pageant which is to be held in the city next month has been assigned its leading parts. The parts have been assigned to the most talented and experienced performers in the city. The pageant is expected to be one of the most spectacular and interesting ever held in the city. It will feature a variety of acts, including music, dance, and drama. The pageant is being organized by a group of local citizens who are dedicated to the cause of the arts and the community.

Dr. Chas. F. Goss Pays a Tribute to Johnson Brothers

Dr. Chas. F. Goss, who is a member of the Johnson family, has paid a tribute to the Johnson brothers. He has written a book which is a history of the Johnson family and of the city. The book is a most interesting and informative one and is expected to be a valuable addition to the city's history. Dr. Goss is a well-known physician and is highly respected in the community. His book is a testament to the Johnson family's contribution to the city and to the state.

Methodist Church At Beach Filled to Hear Dr. Cooke

Bishop Richard J. Cooke, whose home is in Tennessee but who during the past several years has been stationed at Seattle, Wash., and Helena, Mont., and who is universally recognized as one of the most powerful ministers of the Methodist church, preached here last night to a large audience as could be accommodated in the Community M. E. auditorium. He has a very pleasing appearance, has the pulse of a trained orator and is at times strikingly dramatic in his delivery.

For the Scripture lesson, Bishop Cooke read the familiar "Lost Sheep Parable" and this also proved to be the text of his discourse. He began to develop the logical conclusions of what proved to be a very effective and powerful sermon by describing the different ways men can be lost.
 He said that the leaving or the going away from the place where a person belongs, as regards that particular feature of life, damnation and that when he returned to his proper moorings, that was salvation. The coming back, he said, constitutes redemption.
 There are more heads than brains in the world and for that reason every belief had its following, no matter how ridiculous it might be, but he insisted that there was but one authoritative voice and that was of God and that his was the only one with power to open the gate and order the way for mankind. He showed how persons could be lost to the church or to the family or to the home or to any other attachment to which they belonged. He said the sheep in the parable had simply nibbled and nibbled itself away until it was lost to the others and insisted that many men and women became lost to the better things of life in the same way. He called attention to the fact of people becoming lost to the church by simply neglecting to go to the services for a time for some excuse or another. He denied that men were totally depraved or that any man was under the wrath of God or that any child was damned at birth. He feelingly referred to the sad havoc of divorce had brought to society resulting in disgrace, destruction of homes and all kinds of suffering, chief of which he named the description and bereavement of innocent children. He aptly said that those often came as the result of nibbling and nibbling away until finally the father or the mother had lost their way from the home and as an instance cited the bridge playing wife, who was away when the husband came home weary from his day's labor and found no one to make a home. He paid an eloquent tribute to the mother who was at home and said there was no place in the world that could be a home without one. He said that unity, the clinging together and the co-operation with those to whom we belonged, is salvation. He told an effective story of how in Alaska, the wolves hunt the big and powerful moose and by sticking together in packs and by maneuverings known only to themselves, finally get one of the moose separated from the others when it becomes easy to attack and destroy him. This demonstrated the necessity and value of united action.
 He said the strength of the church was the member, the strength of the member, the church, the strength of the home, the father and mother and the strength of the father and mother, the home.

Bishop Cooke said that lost lamb and the lost moose had simply dropped out of the places in which they belonged and were no longer functioning in their society. They had dropped out of circulation and were no longer filling their purpose in life.
 Just so men drop the association and the co-operation for which God has intended them and they are lost to all great thoughts and dreams and acts.
 They are put to touch with life as it should be and lose all power of alignment with the spiritual. He declared that if a man goes out from the world of civilization into the forests, he will become a beast; he will lose his power of thought and speech and will go about mumbling that which is unintelligible. He gets on a lower platform than is intended for the human, he is a wild beast and will never accomplish anything worth while. Such a being could never write the Declaration of Independence or the Constitution. To live a real life, he said, man must be where heart sympathizes with heart; that man is not of bone and flesh alone, but also of spirit and made to associate with angels; he explained how that when one is lost and returns, he will always be welcomed by the broad sympathy and love of the eternal God.

Bishop Cooke said the lost boy in the parable was lost in a very different way than the sheep, that he had deliberately gone away. He had turned from decency, law and order and entered the riotous life, which always means chaos and ends at the swine trough. He explained how that it often took twenty-five or thirty years to build up a reputation which could be lost in ten minutes. He described the terrible guilt between disgrace and decency. It was here in his sermon that the bishop quoted from Shakespeare's description of Lady Macbeth's criminality, and his description of this wicked woman, with the blood of the murdered Duncan on her soul, was given with powerful dramatic effect.

In referring to the loss of the coin by the woman in the parable he said it had simply dropped out of her hand when she did not realize it and he used this as a symbol to show that many people get lost from their home and their church and their God by simply carelessness and negligence.
 He said that to him the most blessed words spoken by Christ were those which he uttered when he arose from the dead: "I will arise and go to my father." He frequently described the unlimited scope, sympathy and mercy of God's love and power of forgiveness and urgently beseeched the return of all wanderers from the fold, as it after all was the one thing that was the essence of salvation. In closing he told a most effective anecdote of a Baltimore girl who had married a gambler against her parent's wishes and who became destitute and desperate after her erring husband had been sent to prison but who just before she was to throw herself into the river with suicidal intent, found herself on the steps of her girlhood home and rushing in to the arms of her old mother, who sat knitting, was freely forgiven for all her misdoings.

Bishop Cooke declared that God in his mercy would forgive every repentant sinner.

BAND CONCERT ADDS TO BEACH PLEASURE SUNDAY

The band concert on the veranda of the Daytona Beach Casino Sunday afternoon brought out the largest crowd on the beach since the height of the summer season, hundreds of cars being parked throughout the afternoon, while many enjoyed the sunbathing, took airplane flights and otherwise enjoyed one of the most delightful days on the beach this year.
 The addition of a band concert was highly pleasing to everyone on the beach, the Daytona band giving an excellent program during the afternoon, which will be made a regular Sunday afternoon feature of the winter season.

Member Editorial Staff N. Y. Herald Visiting at Beach

Among the unusually interesting guests at the Daytona Beach hotel for the past week have been Mr. and Mrs.
 W. H. Van Doren, who are accompanied by their son, L. J. Van Doren.
 They are en route from their home in New York City to San Diego, Cal.
 They intend making it a leisurely trip, stopping at several resorts and going by the way of New Orleans.

This is the first rest time and pleasure trip the elder Mr. Van Doren has had in many years, as he has been tied down to the daily grind of newspaper work, having been connected with the editorial department of the New York Herald from before the time of the elder James Gordon Bennett, whom he knew well. He also was a friend of the late James Gordon Bennett, whom he regarded highly, both as a journalist and as a man.
 He did not retire from the staff of the Herald until it was taken over by Frank A. Munsey, some months ago.

Mr. Van Doren says that Mr. Munsey is doing wonders with the Herald and that he already gotten it on a self-sustaining basis, although it had been a loser for many years. He was with the Herald when it was exceedingly prosperous and practically dominated everything in the New York newspaper field, and he was also with it when it was dependent upon the Bennett wealth, and the surplus earnings of its little offspring, the Evening Telegram, which has always, for many years at least, made enormous profits out of its "want" advertising columns. When asked what he thought was the reason for the depreciation in the value and influence of the Herald, Mr. Van Doren said:

"To me this was apparent for years. Mr. Bennett was an absent manager. He lived in Paris and was obliged to trust the entire management to those without material interest in the property, and, besides, he, himself, was inclined to be more or less independent, and as a result the institution became too dictatorial with large advertisers, both local and foreign, refusing to give space positions when they could just as well do it as not and demanding prices that often proved prohibitory, or at least appeared that way. Of course the advertisers and the agents stood it for a while, but gradually they took their business elsewhere until the Herald was a money loser instead of a great money maker, which it had been through all the years of the elder Bennett. Since Mr. Munsey took over the Herald he has been a paying marked attention to all classes of advertisers, has been giving them pretty near anything they asked in the way of space, and at fairly reasonable prices, and as a result is rapidly increasing the business of the paper both as to advertising and circulation. From what I have been able to observe, he is cutting into the Times' most. This is because the Times became so very strong it became to get a little more independent than some of the big business newspapers thought necessary and it looks as if they are beginning to give it a similar treatment to that accorded the old Herald. Otherwise the status of New York newspapers remain about as they have for some years. The World, both evening and morning, seems to be holding their own. They have a very steady clientele, both as to readers and advertisers and do not seem to have much trouble in holding them. The Herald papers continue to hammer big business and the corporations with one fist just enough to delight a large class of the working people to whom they cater. They have large circulations, but very largely confined to the radical element."

The junior Mr. Van Doren entered the navy at 21 as a seaman, and as

For the great patriotic pageant which is to be staged at the Auditorium during the National Educational Conference on Friday evening, January 21, the important characters have now been selected and assigned.
 There will be more than two hundred parts in this remarkable play and most of them will be taken by local people. Dr. J. L. McBrien of the National Educational Bureau will bring with him from Washington four of the leading actors who have taken the most important parts many times.
 This promises to be one of the most magnificent productions ever seen in the south. The following well known local people have consented to take the parts assigned to them as follows:

John Bannister—Prof. J. F. Eastham.

Stephen Hopkins—Riley S. Selden.
 Col. Peabody—Roy Miller.
 Samuel Adams—Rev. Dr. McKay.
 Benj. Harrison—S. B. Crosby.
 William Floyd—H. A. Horn.
 Thomas Jefferson—Dr. R. S. Mac-Arthur.

Richard Stockton—C. A. Randall.
 Benj. Franklin—Dr. C. F. Goss.
 Roger Sherman—Rev. D. S. Scadeng.
 Lyman Hall—Bert Cooper.
 George Read—G. W. Guard.
 General Mifflin—Rev. A. C. Hathaway.

William Williams—Dr. W. L. Lewis.
 John Dickinson—T. E. Fitzgerald.
 Mr. Johnson—A. W. Shaw.

Robert Morris—T. J. Parker.
 Thomas McKean—L. R. Reynolds.
 Col. Nicholas—Lyle Ramsey.

Edward Rutledge—O. E. Cummins.
 Joseph Bartlett—A. B. Conklin.
 Secretary Thompson—Guy O. Bailey.
 John Adams—R. J. Longstreet.

The close of the war had risen to a lieutenant, which was a remarkable rise for so short a time, but he showed a remarkable aptitude for details. After the war he entered the employ of the big turpentine corporation, but recently resigned to make this trip with his parents. If they find San Diego what it has been pictured to them, the Messers, Van Doren will likely settle there and enter business of some kind. It is not improbable that they will become interested in the newspaper game, as it is mighty difficult for anyone who gets his feet thoroughly wet in the journalist's waters to be satisfied in any other. They expect to leave the Daytona Beach hotel some time today.

Dr. Chas. F. Goss Pays a Tribute to Johnson Brothers

Dr. Charles Frederic Goss at the Tourist church Sunday morning took for his inspiration the story of "The Lost Sheep," and preached a soul inspiring sermon from it. He made telling references to the world tendencies to minimize the value of the individual or the unit and to control everything through organization, corporation and trusts, calling special attention to the changes that have come in the management of newspapers and commercial affairs generally.
 He showed clearly how the individual had been lost sight of but proved by striking incidents in the life of the Savior that He was greatest when dealing face to face with the individual and that He never minimized the value of the simple life or soul.

Dr. Goss paid for greater attention to the importance of the individual soul and of its closer relationship with God. His great audience was visibly impressed by his marvelous array of facts and unanswerable logic most beautifully and eloquently expressed. In the course of his masterful address he had occasion to refer to the present day methods of handling the masses in most mammoth industrial institutions and while speaking of this he paid a spontaneous and sincere personal tribute to his friend and neighbor, George F.
 Johnson, who lives within a few feet of his pulpit.

He had been discussing the tendency in modern business to sacrifice the individual, for the prosperity of the institution as nature sacrifices the individual for the type, and then declared there were signs of a reaction from that remorseless disregard of personality in many lines of business.
 "For instance," he observed, "within two hundred feet of where we sit there is a man who stands in the foremost ranks of those captains of industry to whom the personality of every workman in their shops is sacrificed. He is a father to his commercial children. Every individual of the thousands in his enormous factory is to him a sacred trust, not to be sacrificed to the great good business, but to be developed into a noble manhood or womanhood. So much has he done for the welfare of those individual souls, that when the representatives of organized labor have attempted to unionize his shops they have gone away with public affirmation of the fact that there was nothing to be criticized in the business of the Endicott-Johnson shoe company, and that they could add nothing to the welfare of the workmen."

Captain Pease, Who Brought His Ship Into the Mosquito Inlet in 1858, Visiting Here

Being well his 87 years of age, J. A. Pease, old time navigator, is again in Daytona renewing acquaintances which he made here on his visits.

The presence of Capt. Pease recalls the experience which he went through which placed him on a plane most super-navigators in his time. As Capt. Pease bears the distinction of having brought the ship into the Mosquito Inlet safely through the worst storms which ever visited this coast.

The activity which Capt. Pease displays at his extreme age he attributes to a rough and ready life at sea in earlier days, when the survival of the fittest was the rule. Even now, alert and ever sensitive faculties, the captain recalls those days of the Civil War when he visited the coast, under circumstances far removed from the present, natural and quietude and peaceful which is found here.

It was 63 years ago that Captain Pease was sailing around the keys of Florida, bound from New York to Boston, with a large crew and carrying a raging storm overtook his ship, and he was forced to anchor opposite Daytona Beach. When he approached the Inlet he noted two men ashore, one on each side of the dangerous entrance, as a warning for him to stay out. But the captain charged that it was either a case of driving his crew and losing his ship, or take the slight chance offered of bringing his ship over the bar, into the security of the Inlet. As the ship, "The Union," had never before been to sea, the risk was even greater. By excellent seamanship the captain brought his ship into the Inlet, where he and his crew remained for several days, awaiting the abatement of the storm, and when he again put to sea he towed a schooner out, which also had been marooned. The captain states that evidence of civilization in this community at that time was scarce, although it was plentiful that it was possible to catch them with a grapple, and that oranges abounded, although of the sour or unaltered kind.

After making the open sea, the captain took his ship safely to Galveston spending several years in Texas and, when the Civil War broke out, worked his way back north.

Captain Pease has been absent from Daytona for six or seven years until last season, when he spent the winter here, renewing friendships and plans to spend this winter in Daytona, where he finds a renewal of his younger days conducive to his health and happiness.

Mrs. T. T. Cotnam Speaker Tonight of Wide Reputation

The first of a series of classes of instruction will be held this evening at the Palmetto club, an outgrowth of the formation at election time, of a committee of fifty, composed of women who are taking great interest in civic affairs, since the passage of the nineteenth amendment. The Palmetto club have been especially fortunate in securing for an address on American government civics this evening, Mrs. T. T. Cotnam, of Little Rock, Ark., who represents the General Extension Division of the University of Florida, in stating the club women of the state their study of American government. The address will be given at 8 o'clock, and every woman of the city, whether a member of the club or not, is cordially invited to attend and benefit by the address.

It is interesting to note that Mrs. Cotnam campaigned for the Democratic party in Kentucky and Indiana, October, 1920, and was a delegate large to the San Francisco convention and that she seconded the nomination at Mitchell, Palmer, for the presidency.

Mrs. Thomas T. Cotnam of Little Rock, Ark., is a native Virginian and Democrat by inheritance, training and conviction. She was married in Texas and her three children were born there. She has made her home for the last twenty years in Arkansas, where she is prominent in club and social life. She was president of the oldest and largest woman's club in the state for three years. She began active work for woman suffrage in 1914 and was elected chairman of the Arkansas Equal Suffrage Central committee in 1917. This organization was converted into the League of Women Voters on December 4, 1919, and Mrs. Cotnam was elected chairman. She was a director of the woman's department of the War Savings organization for two years and was a 4-minute speaker during the war.

Son Served in Army
Her son served during the period of the war, having volunteered before the passage of the draft bill, was graduated from the officers training school at Camp Pike, Little Rock, Ark., as 1st lieutenant. He was given his captaincy before sailing for France where he remained until after the armistice was declared.

Mrs. Cotnam was a speaker in the New York campaign for woman suffrage of 1915 for four months, and in the one of 1917 for two months. She filled on an average of three engagements a day during both of those campaigns. In connection with this work in New York, Miss Mary Garrett Day, who was chairman of the Women Suffrage party in 1915 and 1917 said, "I do not think anyone helped more in our campaign of woman more."

votes for us than did Mrs. Cotnam." Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, who was chairman of the Empire state committee in 1915, said, "All New Yorkers who knew Mrs. Cotnam's work among us appreciated its superior value. She filled a part which no one else could have occupied. I sincerely hope she will give herself to the cause for the rest of her life."

Only Woman to Address Ark. Legis.
Mrs. Cotnam enjoys the distinction of being the only woman who has ever addressed the Arkansas legislature in session. She was asked to speak in behalf of the Woman Suffrage amendment in 1915, and secured its passage through the house by exactly the number of votes needed.

Mrs. Cotnam went to Indianapolis in April 1918, to speak to the newly enfranchised women in behalf of the Democratic party. The Star said of this speech: "Mrs. Cotnam has the fervor and remarkable flow of language characteristic of the south and the audience listened with unfeigned pleasure. She is also clever and extremely ready as she demonstrated when she turned the laughter directed her allusion Government ownership of railroads, into hearty applause."

She appeared before the Tennessee legislature, in February, 1919, in behalf of the municipal suffrage bill. She was extended a vote of thanks by the legislature, which subsequently passed the bill.

She held a series of citizenship schools in Alabama in the month of September, 1920 and is actively prosecuting that work in Arkansas.

Mrs. Cotnam believes in all citizens of the United States working together for the good of the country, irrespective of partisan politics.

Two Out of Seven Appear in Police Court for Hearing
Out of seven persons charged with offenses against the laws of the city called for hearings this morning, but two appeared, the balance being satisfied to hand over their bonds for breaking the law, all of those whose bonds were retrated being cases of running automobiles and riding bicycles on the city streets after dark without sufficient lights.

C. A. Dett was one of those who appeared, and paid $2 on this charge. Will Reed, colored, paid a dollar for letting a dog go off in the presence of the colored police officer, Reed being fined the dollar for the one shot.

Gen. Gibbs, E. Hudley, R. L. Winston, E. J. Harrington and S. Coleman each forfeited their $2 bonds for infractions of the traffic laws.

When you want to help your town, buy at home.
When you want shoes, hats or gowns, buy at home.
When you want what you need, never mind what the store says, frame this phrase up for your credit.
Other folks may buy by mail, but you buy at home.
Help the home store to a sale, buy at home.
Every dollar sent away means a dollar less to pay.
What is owed right here today, buy at home.
Are you for your town or not? Buy at home.
Cheaper elsewhere? Tomorrow.
Home store qualities are true.
Home store merchants work for you.
This month then you ought to do.
Buy at home!

Noted Lecturer at Baptist Church on Friday, Jan. 21st

The Daytona Baptist church has been fortunate in securing for an address on Friday evening, Jan. 21, one of the greatest lecturers on the public platform, Russell H. Conwell, who will deliver his famed lecture, "Acres of Diamonds," which he has delivered more than 5,000 times.

The lecture that has harnessed rivers, caused villages to grow into cities, established colleges and schools, and inspired thousands of discouraged men and women to do something for the good of humanity, thus finding happiness and prosperity, literally in their own back yards. "Acres of Diamonds" has been delivered over 5,000 times, and the proceeds have realized nearly five million dollars to their discoverer. The entire amount over and above expenses has been devoted to the education of students in the college grades. Over three thousand young men and women have been assisted in their education by Dr. Conwell during the last 59 years.

Russell H. Conwell was born in South Worthington, Mass., Feb. 13, 1841. He attended Waltham academy. In 1860 he entered Yale university; in order to economize his time he took the law and academic courses together. He earned his expenses by daily labor during his attendance upon both schools. In 1862 he enlisted as captain of infantry in the Civil War and served through the entire war.

At the close of the war he graduated from the law department of the Albany university. Shortly after he moved to Minnesota. There he practiced law and edited a newspaper. In 1867 he represented the state of Minnesota as immigration agent to Germany, and became the foreign correspondent of his own newspaper. In 1868 he became a correspondent for the New York Tribune, and in 1869 the traveling correspondent of the Boston Traveller. In 1870 he was sent by these papers to foreign countries and made the entire circuit of the globe, giving many lectures in India and England. He afterwards visited England exclusively on a lecture tour. In 1870 he published his first book, "Why and How the Chinese Emigrate." It has been followed by a number of others, one being the biography of Charles H. Spurgeon, which reached a sale of 125,000 copies in four months.

Upon his return to this country Dr. Conwell practiced law in Boston for eight years. In 1879 he was ordained to the Baptist ministry, accepting a charge in Lexington, Mass. From there he was called to the Grace Baptist church of Philadelphia. The active membership numbered less than one hundred when he came, but since Dr. Conwell has been pastor of the church it has grown to a membership of about 2,000 and has built the Baptist Temple, Broad and Berks streets. The Baptist Temple has a seating capacity of opera chairs of 1,125. Out of this work has grown the Temple university, enrolling at present, yearly, 7,000 students.

Both as a lecturer and writer Dr. Conwell has been associated with and known intimately some of the country's greatest men, including Gough, Beecher, Whittier, Longfellow, Bayard Taylor, Holmes, Wendell Phillips, Garfield, Maize, Emerson, Grant and many others. In his travels abroad he met Gladstone, Garibaldi, Tennyson, Dickens, Ruskin and other eminent statesmen, writers and public men.

Dr. Conwell today is America's most popular speaker both in the pulpit and on the lecture platform. He brings to his hearers a rich harvest of help and inspiration gleaned from his years in the service of humanity.

Ormond School Is Opened Today in The New Building

Following the construction of the new school building at Ormond which has been under way the past year, school was opened in the new structure this morning for the first time, the pupils being transferred from the former building to the new one today.

The opening of the new building followed a tour of inspection made by the county school board Friday, when all but a few minor details were found complete.

Messrs. Crews and Bradshaw, contractors on the new building, received great praise from the board and trustees F. A. Darnell and Chas. McCarty, for their efforts in having the building completed at this time, despite the many draw backs which had hindered the completion of the building earlier in the year.

At the regular meeting of the county school board Thursday the members of the board, who were all elected to office at the last elections, were installed and Tom B. Stewart, re-elected attorney for the board.

County Superintendent Sheppard, reported the installation of 140 desks in the new Ormond building, 160 to Daytona schools and 85 to the Seabreeze school, to take care of the fast increasing number of pupils in these schools. Congested conditions of the Daytona schools were commented upon, but no action is possible to take at this time. A number of minor matters were handled by the board, and school affairs in the county reported in a most flourishing condition.

Contributions for Elks' Fair, Feb. 7 To 19 Still Coming

The Elks' Charity Fair which is to be held in the Armory Feb. 7th to 19th, is going to be the greatest event of its kind ever attempted in the state of Florida, if the present indications come true.

The donation committee has met with a most cordial reception at the hands of our merchants and are most thankful for the kindly spirit with which they have been received in every case, where they have called.

The donations have been beyond even their most fond expectations, and be it said for the Merchants of Daytona that their liberality in giving to charity will set a mark hard to equal in cities of much larger population than Daytona.

Everyone seems to be trying to outdo the other in a friendly way, and this spirit will help to make the Fair a most wonderful success.

The public will, of course, attend the event in goodly numbers and will be well repaid for their interest, for there will be something doing every minute, from the time the doors open at 7:30 until the dancing is over with at midnight.

The chairman of the different committees will be announced during the coming week, many of these are already at work and meeting with wonderful success.

House Physician at West Baden Resort in City

Dr. M. Hassenmiller, who with Mrs. Hassenmiller has been spending a few weeks at the Prince George with their friends, Mr. and Mrs. John Hannebeck of Antigo, Wis., will go from Daytona to Miami, where they will remain until about the middle of February, when the doctor and his wife will return to West Baden, Ind., where he is the house physician in the famous hotel at that health resort.

Dr. Hassenmiller is a personal friend of Thomas Taggart, Democratic leader of Indianapolis. Mr. Taggart filled the unexpired term of the late Benjamin Shively in the United States Senate by appointment, and has since that time been twice defeated for that office. "Tom" Taggart holds a place of interest and prominence with all Democrats of Florida and other southern states, and is known to them as one of the most skillful, national leaders of the party. Mr. Taggart is the owner of the French Lick Springs hotel, located but a few miles from West Baden, and like that place a famous health resort. In a business and professional way Dr. Hassenmiller has come in close contact with him and knows him well.

In speaking of him Dr. Hassenmiller said to a representative of the News:

"No, I would not say that I consider Mr. Taggart a great leader in a national way. In Indianapolis, his home city, he has a large following and is popular with a certain wing of the Democratic party, but like politicians generally he has many enemies and has to fight his way every inch. He is a good mixer and a wonderful entertainer and at his big hotel entertains many people of prominence, especially Democrats, who stand high in the councils of the party. At West Baden there is no preference in a political way, but such politicians as Charles Murphy of Tennessee and Governor Smith of New York are often visitors at French Lick."

"Mr. Taggart does not take personal charge of the big hotel. He spends much of his time in New York and the hotel is under the management of his son, Thomas, Jr., of whom the father is very proud."

"I do not believe that Mr. Taggart has been a man who has ever gambled or drunk to any excess. He has an interesting family to whom he is devoted, and as a friend and neighbor is loyal and whole hearted."

NOVA SCOTIANS ENJOYING THE GOLF COURSES HERE

W. T. Bookfield of Nova Scotia, who with his daughter is spending the season at the Prince George, are both enjoying the fine golf links to the fullest extent. Mr. Bookfield says he dislikes to spend any time waiting for buses when he comes over to the beach to play. He says he would be glad to see larger buses and to have them run more frequently.

AGENTS OF UNCLE SAM WAR AGAINST CANUCK LOTTERIES

(Newspaper Enterprise Association) CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—Federal officials are preparing to swoop down on American agents of Canadian lotteries which are taking billions out of the United States every month.

The federal officials stumbled into these lotteries as the result of their investigation of baseball and clearing-house lotteries, exposed through the Chicago grand jury probe into baseball crookedness.

Among the largest of Canadian lotteries is the Great Northern. It offers a capital prize of $15,000 and 4,437 other prizes, totalling in all $37,689.

Tickets sell for a dollar apiece. Drawings are held monthly.

The expense of operating such a lottery, including salesmen's commissions, is so great that federal officials estimate at least $10 must be taken in for every dollar paid out to Americans.

Ponzi Lure

"The $15,000 capital prize is another Ponzi lure," said a federal official working on the investigation. "So far we have been unable to discover any American who has won it."

Despite the federal investigation lottery tickets were issued in October, November and December.

The lottery gambles described by officials are particularly pernicious, as they appeal to persons of small means. Many of these tickets are sold to workmen in factories, whose families can ill afford to lose the money squandered.

An Alabama man has invented a pistol that is practically a miniature machine gun.

The eggs of sea fowl are almost conical in form, so that they will only roll in a circle.

Large Audience Hears Batten at Open Forum

Dr. Samuel Zane Batten, of Philadelphia, delighted, interested and instructed a large and enthusiastic audience at the Auditorium yesterday afternoon by his able and eloquent address before the open forum on the question, "Can We Solve the Industrial Question Without a Revolution?"

Prior to the address Director James Heaton of the Assembly program led the community singing and made the future announcements, while H. L. Starr, of Holly Hill, the latest addition to the Auditorium force, rendered a solo very effectively. President R. S. Holmes of the open forum appropriately introduced the speaker as an old friend of many years and said he knew the audience would be interested every minute and as usual he proved to be absolutely correct.

Following is a brief resume of Dr. Batten's address:

"Our present industrial situation is of recent creation. It is little more than a hundred years old and in the direct outcome of what is called the Industrial Revolution."

"In all the generations of the past, before the middle of the 18th century, manufacture had been by hand and on a small scale. But with the invention of the steam engine and the application of steam power to machinery the whole process of manufacture underwent a change. Before we had the individual worker, owning his own tools and machinery, acting as his own manager, seldom growing rich but never very poor. Now as the result of these inventions we have large scale production and corporate control of industry."

"Along with these benefits have grown certain evils that constitute positive defects in the industrial system, give rise to unrest and create a condition full of menace."

"As a result of this industrial revolution we have large scale production and the impersonal organization of industry. Now we find the great industries, both in production and distribution, owned by stockholders and investors, who manage the enterprise through directors and agents. We also find the workers massed in great numbers, without ownership in their tools or voice in the enterprise, controlled and directed by agents. This has brought about one of the most momentous changes in the history of mankind. The economic world, as we know it, has broken men into two groups, opposed and competing."

"The present system has destroyed the workers' interest in his work and lessened his incentive to do his best. He becomes a part of the machinery, a mere unit in production."

"In every man there are certain instincts and impulses that seek expression; these rightly trained are among life's richest treasures; these rightly directed create life's highest values. Man wants to think, to try experiments, to create things. Unfortunately our present system of machine production gives little scope for the expression of these impulses. It gives little scope for intelligence. The consequence is the worker's capacity remains undeveloped and unused and much possible value is thereby lost to society."

"Plato defined a slave as one who accepts from another the purposes which control his conduct. In this sense millions of industrial workers are little better than slaves."

"This system of corporate industry creates a condition that is full of menace. By it is possible for a person to hold a claim in the possession of stocks and bonds upon the labor of others and the life of society and transmit the claim to others and thus perpetuate his own power. It is possible for one to draw an income from capital without rendering any service or performing any function in society. The position of power occupied by the landlord under the feudal system is now held by the bondholder in our capitalist system. A large class has grown up, with comparatively little property, hard worked and over driven, who believe that they are exploited and who smart under a sense of injustice."

"The present industrial system enforces the law of selfishness as the fundamental law. It assumes that men are selfish beings and that each man is trying to get ahead of his fellows. It assumes that the principles of self interest and competition are constant and potent factors, while sympathy and brotherhood are inconceivable and secondary principles, well enough in their place but having no place in economics. So men have felt free to do one another to death, provided only the arena was a market and the instrument a bargain."

"Men are dissatisfied with the present system. They find that it does not bring justice and satisfaction to many and they feel that it is working at cross purposes with human well being and the purpose of Christ, and society is trying to find a more satisfactory industrial system."

"The defects in the present industrial system show clearly some of the essential conditions that must be found in a better industrial order."

"A satisfactory industrial system must assure all parties a stable economic basis. With the present system the employment with a large proportion of workers is uncertain. Men are thrown out of work with only a few days' notice. Closely related to this is the guarantee to every worker a living income. The primary question of the day is a more satisfactory distribution. By a more intelligent system of industry it is possible to regularize employment and keep all workers busy."

"In our modern and complex industry and large scale production it is not easy to determine a just distribution. But in a satisfactory system we will recognize that all parties are partners in the enterprise. We shall provide some way in which all parties shall have knowledge of the affairs of industry. We shall provide for the distribution of the product on the basis of just and acceptable principles which will recognize the judgment and equities of all parties."

"A satisfactory system will personalize the relations of men. The deeper cause of industrial unrest is found just here. Human relations are broken and ignored. We can never have peace; we never should have peace until these relations are recognized and righted."

"Our primary purpose is not to patch up a compromise and secure a temporary truce in industrial strife. It is rather to discover the foundations of a true system and so establish justice among men."

"Industry should be a partnership and should be held to consist of the stockholders, the managers, the workers and the community. Every partner should have a partner's knowledge of the enterprise and a partner's voice in the affairs. Its management should represent their united wisdom."

"There should be a council or court to which all questions at issue may be referred. At present we have no accepted principles of industrial rights."

"The time has gone by when industry can regard itself as a private business and conduct its affairs for its own advantage alone. The time has passed when society, the third party in every industry, can stand by and suffer while employer and employee fight out their differences."

"The law of Christ, the law of love and brotherhood, is the final law for all men and for all relations of life. It is for us to interpret all life in terms of that law, to look at all things in the light of Christ's purpose and to test all tendencies and processes by the touchstone of His spirit."

"The industrial order is moving in the right direction as far as and as fast as it regards industry as a partnership, personalizes the relations of men, brings the owners of capital and units into the same hands and secures an equitable distribution of the product. The old forms may remain for some time; they will remain until humanity has found something better. We must grow a new soul, and in due time this will clothe itself in an appropriate social form and a Christian industrial system."

At the close of Dr. Batten's address, President R. S. Holmes invited the questions which followed quickly and were answered by Dr. Batten in a very satisfactory way.

A UNITED COMMUNITY

Boosting for the interests of all is what develops a community. Whether you live in Daytona, Seabreeze, Daytona Beach, Ormond, Ormond Beach, Port Orange, Wilbur, Allandale or Ortona, your interests are the interests of every other person residing in any town in the Halifax Country.

The prosperity of one town means the prosperity of every other town in the community. No matter in which town a new-comer selects his home he should be given the glad-hand by everyone in the community. Make him feel that he is "one of us."

Say a good word for your own town--but say one also for your neighbor's town.

Edward W. Amosden, of Ormond was laid to rest in Ormond Sunday afternoon funeral services being conducted at the Episcopal church in that town. Several relatives and a large number of friends attended the services, the late Mr. Amosden having been a resident of Ormond for many years and greatly endeared to many friends. Bingham & Mailey were in charge of the burial services.

Sam Dobson, proprietor of the Waldorf Shop, returned Sunday from New York where he made a flying visit for the purpose of securing new merchandise. He reports that conditions are improving and that prices seem to have been stabilized. The weather was fine but he predicts that tourists will flock to Florida as soon as the mercury takes a downward plunge.

Growth of Various Churches as Given by Dr. MacArthur

At the Calvary Baptist church last night Dr. Robert Stuart MacArthur as a prelude to his sermon gave utterance to the following facts and figures regarding the growth of the various church organizations in the United States:

"The statistics of Protestant growth in the United States for the last 10 years are full of encouragement for all Protestant churches. One item is that the attendance of men in the services of the churches is increasing. It is now 43.9-13 per cent, including all the people, Protestants and Romanists, there are in the United States 41,926,854 church members.
 This is an increase of 6,566,000 in the 10 years ending with 1919; this is an increase of about 20 per cent. We had at that date in all 224,000 churches; this was an increase of over 15,000. The statistics for 1920 cannot be given for some time yet.
 The value of church property is given at $1,678,000,000; this is an increase of $420,000,000 during the decade from 1909 to 1919. This statement includes both Protestants and Romanists.

Now what are the facts regarding the growth of the Romanists taken by themselves? Their total number is given as 15,721,815. But in this number all children, including all infants, are reckoned. Protestants do not so number their church members and in-ferments. Statisticians are accustomed to deduct from the number of members of the Roman church 15 per cent for children and infants. This is a fair rate of reduction; this reduction will greatly lessen the total number of Romanists. Only about one-third of the church members in the United States belong to the Roman church in 1906 the proportion of Romanists in the total membership was 40½ per cent; in 1919 it fell to 37½ per cent.
 Taking the whole period of 10 years, into the account the Romanists gained 10-3-5 per cent; during this same period Protestant churches made a gain of 22-5-5 per cent. The gain in the Roman church is largely due to immigration of Irish, Italians and immigrants from other Roman countries. During the recent war, as we all know, the volume of immigration was greatly reduced. If we cut off the stream of immigration the Roman church would make but little progress in the United States. A distinguished priest of the Roman church in New York City said to me in the evening
